Amy, you don't have to do anything with this email at all. But just in case you're interested in the context of which the references fit in, I'm sending the larger process that's happening with compiling comments and responding to them. The references piece fits in where we verify that the statements made in the comments are accurate so we can also be accurate in our responses.

Subject: Oregon CZARA Pesticides information

Hi Everyone (fyi to Jayne, Allison, and Helen) – thanks again for all the input on the pesticides comments and the good dialogue yesterday on pesticides in Oregon CZARA. I really appreciate the input.

As we discussed, the next step is to group similar comments to help us figure out which of them relate to our decision. Here are a few steps:

1. Grouping Comments:
 - a. Look at Response to Comments DRAFT 060514 to see a sample of the type of format we're looking at.
 - b. Check out Categories of Comments Word to see list of possible subcategories which we'll use to group. Feel free to send me comments on this grouping, but let's start with this, and we can refine if it doesn't work.
 - c. Open XL Spreadsheet of Coded Public Comments – pesticides. This is a compiled list of all of our work with all other comments deleted. Assign 1 or more categories to your assigned comments (color-coded).
2. Meetings
 - a. The CZARA Tech Team meets on Tuesday, July 1 at 10AM PST/11AM Mountain where I'll summarize where we are on pesticides. The call-in is Non-Responsive Up to you whether you want to call in, but you're welcome to.
 - b. I'll send out an invite for another time for our group to look at compiled comments, most likely July 7 or 8.

Lastly, references! The following should be helpful for more background. Luckily, these are all posted online, so they're easy to access.

1. EPA/NOAA determinations on thresholds for pesticides. I only found specific reference to pesticides thresholds in the 1998 and 2013 documents. Will follow up.
